The Milwaukee Radio Amateurs' Club

The Milwaukee Radio Amateurs Club is the world's oldest continuously active radio club. The MRAC is celebrating its 75th birthday. On December 5, 1919 the club became affiliated with a national amateur radio organization, The American Radio Relay League in Newington, Connecticut and has strived to promote the advancement of Amateur Radio ever since.

The club holds monthly meetings on the last Thursday of every month in the basement of Wauwatosa Savings & Loan at 7:30. The meetings are open to members and the public. Club meetings and field exercises help keep our members up to date on the latest changes in technology, equipment and rules related to our hobby as well as a social get togethers with fellow hams. Our club supports a school to teach newcomers the radio principals needed to pass a Federal Communications test for a license and also supports a volunteer license testing program at least once a month.

On October 8th the Milwaukee Radio Amateurs Club will operate a special interest station, to commemorate our upcoming 75th birthday from the old time Cedarburg Railroad Station, restored by the Ozaukee County Historical Society, located in Pioneer Village on Hwy. I approximately 4 miles north of Hwy. 33. This station will be on the air from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. contacting as many other ham radio stations worldwide as possible with information on the history of our club. The club will be sending a special certificate to everyone that we talk to over the air.

Information about joining our club will be available to the public or call 466-HAMS.
